

WeVideo Delivers K-12 Collaborative Video Editing to Google Chromebook

New WeVideo app is part of Education App Packs for Google Chromebooks

San Diego, CA (ISTE 2012) – June 26, 2012 – WeVideo \(www.WeVideo.com\), creators of the world’s most powerful and easy-to-use online video editing platform, today announced that it is bringing K-12 collaborative video editing to the Google Chromebook. The new WeVideo feature app is specifically tailored for the education market to meet the needs of teachers at multiple levels from K-12. This special program presents unique features and pricing.

“WeVideo is proud to support educators and students in using video to learn and share stories,” said John Hallman, WeVideo’s VP of Business Development. “Education is one of the cornerstones of our efforts and this program is an extension of our history and previous work with Google.”
